A milestone of literary and theological scholarship. ? Bruce Bennett Lawrence, author of The Koran in English ? A Biography? Jack Miles? God in the Qur'an is the culmination of an extraordinary three-part biography?or theograpy, as he has termed it?of the central character in the sacred scriptures of Jews, the Christians, and now the Muslims. In this book, as in the previous books in the trilogy, Miles draws upon rich theological learning that he manages to wear lightly and gracefully. He draws too upon an extraordinary literary sensibility that enables him to illuminate brilliantly those scriptural places where the three monotheisms converge and where they strikingly differ. Above all, he draws upon unfailing moral intelligence, sympathetic imagination, and human decency, qualities that are sorely needed not only in this critically important interfaith project but also in the world whose shadows fall so darkly upon us all. ? Stephen Greenblatt, Author of The Rise and Fall of Adam and Eve? In this extraordinary, beautifully written book, Jack Miles continues his exploration of the nature of God in scripture by turning his trained eyes to the Qur'an. To put it simply, this is one of the finest books I have ever read on the Qur'an, and everyone who truly wants to understand Islam and Muslims should read it. ? Amir Hussain, author, Muslims and the Making of America? God in the Qur'an is not your typical ?feel-good-we-are-all-brothers-and-sisters? read but rather a careful, critical, loving and deeply perceptive examination of how God really appears in this sacred scripture. This is a remarkable contribution to a remarkable topic, and a book not to be missed. ?Reuven Firestone, author, An Introduction to Islam for Jews? Jack Miles has done it again! In a fascinating and creative way, his latest book helps Jews and Christians understand the Qur'an, not by paraphrasing or summarizing its teachings, but by having Allah speak directly about key persons? Adam and his wife, Abraham and his sons, Jesus and his mother? who appear in the Tanakh and the Christian Bible. His brilliant comparative reading of selected passages of the Qur'an sheds an appreciative light on all three religions, noting both similarities and differences, but all the while increasing our much-needed understanding of the Qur'an. ?Father James L. Heft, author, Passing on the Faith? With God in the Qur'an, Jack Miles completes the literary pilgrimage that gave us God: A Biography and Christ: A Crisis in the Life of God. This time Allah is the central character, and drawing on the Qur'an, but also the Hebrew Bible and the New Testament, Miles puts him in play with the cross-over figures of Adam, Noah, Abraham, Joseph, Moses and Jesus. As with his earlier books, Miles mines all three texts to strikingly original effect, generating new insights about the Qur'an but also about its sibling scriptures. ? Jane McAuliffe, editor, The Encyclopaedia of the Qur'an Über den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende JACK MILES pursued religious studies at Pontifical Gregorian University, Rome, and The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, and holds a doctorate in Near Eastern languages from Harvard University. In 2002, he was named a MacArthur Fellow, and he currently serves as Distinguished Professor Emeritus of English and Religious Studies at the University of California, Irvine, and Senior Fellow for Religion and International Affairs with the Pacific Council on International Policy. In the 2018-2019 academic year, he will serve as Corcoran Visiting Chair of Christian and Jewish Learning at Boston College. His book God: A Biography won a Pulitzer Prize. He served as editor for the Los Angeles Times Book Review and was a member of that newspaper's editorial board.
